Results of the Mathematics Competitions for 2017 has been released, in mathematics and science

Congratulations to all participants who have participated in the Mathematics and Science competitions organized by the Mathematics Competitions Unit of the Mathematics and Science Department of the Ministry of Education.

The participants who sat for the Math and Science Level 1 and Level 2 exams are now on the Ministry of Education website, on the Mathematics and Science Competitions page.

The participants who sat for the Math and Science Level 3 exams, and the participants who sat for the Mathematics Olympiad competition, are now on the Ministry of Education Mathematics and Science Competitions Facebook page, and on the Ministry of Education Mathematics and Science Competitions Twitter page.

Through the Ministry of Education Mathematics and Science Competitions Facebook page and Twitter page, participants can see their results in the competitions, and can also see the results of their friends who participated in the competitions, and can also see the results of all participants. Participants can also share their results with their friends on social media, and can also share their results with their teachers, and with their parents, and with their friends, and with their family members, and with their neighbors, and with their relatives, and with their friends, and with their family members, and with their neighbors, and with their relatives, and with their friends, and with their family members, and with their neighbors, and with their relatives